ABSTRACT

Intended for Pennsylvania librarians, those who use libraries, and those responsible for libraries, this directory of cooperative library organizations in the state provides information on current operating programs and describes those which may be appropriate for libraries not now participating in them. With few exceptions, the members of the organizations listed are institutions rather than individuals; organizations whose members are personal rather than institutional are listed only if their reported activity indicates institutional commitment to cooperation, and public library systems are not included. The format for each listing includes mailing address, telephone number, name of chief executive officer, expiration date of his term, name of chief administrative officer, purpose statement, basis of organization, description and number of membership, funding sources, publications, and services to nonmember libraries. Tables present services provided through membership, communication links between members, and delivery services available through membership. Also included are lists of the members of cooperative library organizations by name of library and by name of organization. (Author/JD)

FOREWORD

This Inventory of Pennsylvania Library Cooperative Organizations indicates to Pennsylvania librarians, those who use libraries, and those responsible for libraries the extent to which current cooperative programs are operating. It also describes programs which may be appropriate for libraries not now participating in these organizations.

Information for the inventory was gathered on questionnaires distributed by the Bureau of Library Development in November 1978; membership data reflects the organizations' status on November 1.

With few exceptions, the members of the organizations listed are institutions rather than individuals. Organizations whose members are personal rather than institutional are listed if the activity reported indicates institutional commitment to cooperation. Public library systems as defined in Pennsylvania's systems standards are not included. The only other formal library cooperative programs in Pennsylvania that are known to the bureau staff but are not included are those which have fewer than three independent libraries and those which have a majority of members from outside the Commonwealth.

Previous editions of this inventory were prepared in 1972 and 1976; both are out of print. We anticipate publication of revised editions at appropriate intervals. Additions and corrections should be brought to the attention of the bureau.
